

Reflexión

¿Do you want to be born again?

Do you want to be born again?

You still ignore many things of you, of the world and of God ...

You can learn, ... the happiness of friends who discover the love that projects them out of themselves towards each other.

You can learn ... the patience of young mother and young dad who are waiting for their firstborn.

You can learn, ... the affection and tenderness of spouses discovering how much we can love a child.

You can learn ... the price of life of a paraplegic, accidental, incurable patient, bedridden, keeping faith and hope.

You can learn, ... the perseverance of an athlete, a runner who finds his second breath and goes to the end of himself.

You can learn, ... the spontaneity of child who laughs, dances, jumps for joy, discovering a new game, new friend, new landscape.

You can learn ... everything you do not know about the beauty of the world and that life will teach you.

You can learn ... the meaning of your commitment, your job and your mission on earth.

You can learn, ... the solidarity, sharing of your goods and person with the wounded and rejected of life.

You can learn ... that you have been chosen and loved by God from the first moments of life in your mother's womb.

You can learn, ... that, since your baptism, you are a child of God and you must go to the school of Jesus, to practice his evangelical teaching.

You can learn, ... that you carry the name of a saint woman or man who watches over you.

You can learn, ... that the grace of God (his light, his strength, his peace, his joy) dwells in you and you have not yet discovered it.

You can learn, ... that seeds of holiness, humility, goodness, happiness have been thrown into your heart and soul, waiting for your "yes" as Virgen Mary, to bud and give good fruits of life.

Give yourself the chance to discover those seeds of love, peace and joy that ripen in you.

Good luck and go after your talents, your wealth, your dreams, and share them with others, especially with those who are indifferent to you or who have treated you with aggression ... pray for them.
